Problem Definition

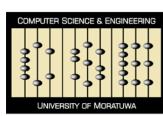

Introduction

Describe how your team identified this issue through day-to-day observations, workplace experiences, or specific incidents. Clearly state the identified problem or the part of the problem that your team aims to address.

Problem Analysis

Analyze the identified problem and emphasize its significance, impact, and relevance across different sectors.

Elaborate on specific aspects of the problem that can be addressed through IoT. Showcase the potential of integrating IoT/AI/automation to transform your identified problem.

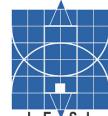

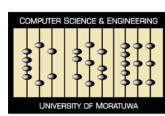

Proposed Solution

Proposed Product

Briefly describe your proposed solution, explaining how it addresses the identified problem effectively and emphasizing its key features.

Uniqueness of the Solution

Explain how your solution differs from existing products, especially if a similar solution is already available. Highlight new features and capabilities that set your solution apart. Include a simple table or graph to highlight key differences. Emphasize what aspects of the identified problem your solution uniquely addresses.

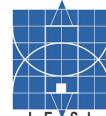

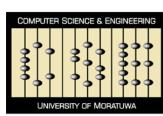

Technical Overview and Implementation

Technical Details

Provide a brief overview of your solution's implementation without specifying detailed technologies. (No need to mention or specify the technologies you will use) Discuss the general approach and methodologies you will employ to achieve the features mentioned in your proposed solution.

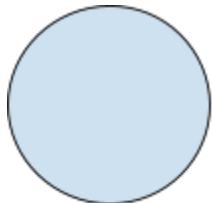

User Scenario

Describe a user scenario illustrating how your product would be used in a specific situation, simulating how your product will solve the previously identified issue.
